" Falco .. Oberto Airaudi "

" the inspiration and spiritual guide of Damanhur, Italy "

" Falco " had awakened in himself the capacity to tap into the great reservoirs of knowledge of our universe. His work brought to life a new spiritual paradigm, new arts and new sciences.

His constant commitment towards the transformation of our planet and the awakening of every human being is inextricably woven into the experience of Damanhur and its School of Meditation .. which is founded on his vision of the Divine Ecosystem, of Ritual and Initiation.

His message of practical idealism has given shape to the impossible dream of the Temples of Humankind, a work of sacred art built by hand in the heart of a mountain.

The story of " Falco " is the story of a man who believed so strongly in his dreams that he was able to involve many other people and make them dream as well. It is also the story of a man who has always lived ahead of his time.

Falco was born in the year 1950 in Balangero, near Turin, from Dovilia and Giovanni .. and from a very early age showed very unusual abilities : he could heal the injuries of his friends, enliven their games with visions and wonders, continuously testing the co-existence between natural and supernatural laws. It was not so much his friends who were frightened by this abilities but rather, sometimes, his parents.

The anecdotes, told by him and by his mother are unforgettable : his rides on a bicycle on which he had fixed two handcrafted little rockets, or how he sometimes " gave orders " to the washing machine to chase his parents !

In the year 1967, Falco published his first book " Poems of My Sixteen Years " ( Poesie dei Miei Sedici Anni ), followed by " Chronicles of My Suicide " ( Cronache del Mio Suicidio ) in the year 1968.

In the year 1969, he successfully applied to the Juvenile Court and was emancipated, becoming an adult, which should have normally occurred two years later. He opened an insurance agency and became the youngest broker in Italy. Still in the year 1969, he married and had his first child, a daughter, Valeria. A year later his son, Adriano was born. His youngest daughter, Laene, would be born much later, in the year 2001.

In the early 70's, he was already well known as an energy healer, parapsychologist, medium, hypnotist .. and was touring Italy participating in meetings and conferences.

In the year 1975, he founded the Horus Centre in Turin to share what he felt was his mission : to create a spiritual society based on research and practical actions in which men and women could experiment a new balance between human beings, divine forces and natural forces. An enlightened society and a spiritual people that could serve as a magnet to orient a new relationship with the Gods, and be the spark for the awakening of humanity.

This MISSION was the reason why he received such unusual powers, and a charisma that went well beyond his friendly and gentle demeanor.

In the year 1976, in order to give his fellow researcher active access to his knowledge and reservoirs of knowledge and powers, Falco gave birth to the " School of Meditation ", a path of Initiation, both collective and individual. It is an original Initiation path, uniting the common essences of all traditions. It is an inner discipline applied 24 hours per day towards knowledge and self-empowerment through a ritual connection with the Sacred and the Divine.

The School of Meditation still is Damanhur's spiritual heart, and its Initiates are now active in many countries of the world.

From the foundation of the Horus Centre and the School of Meditation onwards, Falco's life has been linked to the Project of Damanhur : in the year 1977 the idea of the physical community was born in order to turn spiritual principles into a shared life and practical achievements.

Falco and his friends of the Horus Center .. who were to become the co-founders of the community .. travelled around the world looking for special " power points " of the Earth, in an endeavor to find the place where the energy of the Synchronic Lines .. the great rivers of energy that surround our planet and link it to the universe, carrying information, life and events .. was greater and more accessible.

With a pinch of divine humour, the most suitable area turned out to be the " Valley of Valchiusella ", right on their doorstep one hour north of Turin.

At this time, Valchiusella was largely unpopulated and derelict because most of its farmers had moved from the countryside to the industrial areas of Piedmont. One weekend, while driving through this deserted valley, Falco and a small group of friends reached a hilly portion of land overgrown with brambles and nettles. Falco asked them to stop the car, and started walking up the little hill. A scruffy old man emerged and .. to their great surprise .. started complaining for taking so long to find him. He told them that many years before he had had a dream in which he saw a new settlement full of children, art and laughter situated on that same piece of land.

A voice had instructed him to buy the land piece by piece so that one day he could hand it over to those who were to settle there and realize the vision.

The week after they signed the deeds to the land, the old man peacefully passed away. On that land, now called " Damjl ", in December 1979, there was the opening ceremony of Damanhur's early community.

In a nearby hill, in the year 1978, in complete secret, the construction of the " Temples of Humankind " had begun, the great underground cathedral that was an essential part of Falco's Vision, and an important gift of Damanhur to humanity. The Temples had to be confidential because, although the land belonged to the community, in Italy it was not possible to obtain a permit to excavate such a monumental underground building. The Damanhurians felt that the Temples were so important, that they decided to take the risk.

In order to bring in new citizens and start a period of more intensive cultural and artistic characterization, in the year 1983, Falco launched an initiative called " The Game of Life " based on the concept of the need of constant change and renewal towards awakening, both personal and collective.

Along with this initiative, Damanhurians could choose to take an animal name, and thus he became Falco. With the " Game of Life ", Falco also launched another initiative, that would become a characteristic feature of how he shared his teachings throughout his life: the " Viaggio ", ( the Journey ). Moving with cars and tents at first, and with big campers later, Falco would bring different people with him for movements also very far from Damanhur, to conduct experimentations and explore many fields of research on a deeper level.

All along the 80's, new people joined the community and Damanhur grew slowly but steadily to a few hundreds citizens. In the beginning of the 90's, the social atmosphere in Italy was one of great suspect against all new spiritual movements and Damanhur was under frequent attack, from the press and the legal authorities that suspected illicit activities.

Falco encouraged the Damanhurians to continue working and growing, to refine themselves and create art and beauty, while trying to be as self-sufficient as possible.

In the year 1992, the Public Prosecutor's office in Ivrea discovered Damanhur's great secret: the Underground Temples. The following four years were spent fighting a tough political and legal battle which ended in the year 1996 with the official authorization to keep and re-open the "Temples of Humankind". Falco was personally committed to save the Temples and always kept the morale of the Damanhurians up, even at moments in which it seemed that their precious spiritual heart would indeed be destroyed.

From the year 1996 on, pilgrims from all over the world started to visit and meditate in the Temples of Humankind, and Damanhur became popular at an international level, appealing especially to spiritual researchers, innovators and artists.

Falco's inspiration is clearly visible in the Temples, as they are one of the main vehicles through which Damanhur communicates its message : an eco-society able to combine metaphysical aspirations with politics, solidarity, service and business companies, innovative educational services, a cutting-edge healthcare system, and a fully satisfying life for its citizens.

Falco was a man deeply convinced of his MISSION and therefore capable of dedicating himself to it with incredible energy and consistency.

Besides his smile, his sense of humor, his vivid intelligence and his ability to constantly think of new ideas, what was striking about him was his constant commitment to make a New World come true, with Damanhur as a starting point. To this he dedicated his total attention, and his vitality, desire to take action, devotion and optimism were very inspiring for all those who met him.

In the first years of Damanhur, Falco defined himself as a "Governor" and was actively involved both in steering the collective decisions and in choosing the people who should implement them. Gradually he stepped back from direct involvement, leaving the management of the community to the citizens that were elected to the different decision-making roles.

In the year 1989, the Constitution of Damanhur stated that from that moment on he would have no social roles in the community. He was of course always highly regarded and his input was considered very important by everyone. For this reason, he was very keen to be informed of all the activities relating to Damanhur, but he was reticent in expressing his thoughts, as he did not want people to feel compelled to follow his opinion.

Throughout his life, he never wanted to promote his image, nor was he involved in promoting Damanhur personally in public events. He preferred to dedicate himself to his activities of painter and researcher in the field of "Selfica" -- an ancient art / science to build conductors for highly specialized intelligent energies, healing and human potential, but he was available for public meetings with Damanhurians and guests of Damanhur.

During the meetings on Thursday evenings, he shared an intense dialogue with the Damanhurians about his findings. On Fridays, he would answer questions by guests interested in understanding the principles and dynamics of Damanhur.

For many years, several evenings during the week, he animated a very complex life-action game, called "Damanhurian Risk", to teach in a practical way the effects of the social, political and economic dynamics that shape the history of humanity.

As years went by, Damanhur's popularity across the world continued to grow, and many people and groups from all over the world started to join Damanhurian citizens to participate in the ritual celebrations of the Solstices and Equinoxes, and the monthly Rite of the Oracle at the Full-Moon.

Damanhurians looked at Falco as their spiritual guide, a man who had the ability to tap into the great reservoirs of universal knowledge in order to extract the wisdom and the power that could lead to new scientific discoveries and spiritual paradigms. Among his many contributions to the understanding of the human role in the universe are : Spiritual Physics -- the Path of the " Quesiti " -- his vision of the divine planes as an eco-system. These insights are at the basis of the Damanhurian School of Meditation, the heart of the new paradigm that Falco created.

In order to explain universal truths, Falco presented many uplifting myths, images and stories full of emotions which stimulated new, different interpretations of the meaning of life and evolution. The existence of a moment, far ahead in time, when an evolved galactic being is sent to Earth to trigger a "separation of time planes" and restore balance on the planet.

The Divine Presence seen as a mirror that breaks into a myriad fragments in order to enter every form in our universe ; the alien-gorilla Enkidu messenger of the Gods, manifesting on Earth to bring help ; the "Four Seconds Café" where the primeval laws meet and originate the universe in four seconds ; the divinity Horus, as an example of a divine force which has always been an ally for the evolution of humankind ; the Triad, the divine alliance of the Third Millennium ; and the new form of the Grail force, in this time of awakening of humanity ; bringing together the gods and goddesses of all times and all peoples.

All of these themes give shape to a vision of the world and of life, an integrated ensemble of esotericism, philosophy, tradition and innovation which informs Damanhur's experience.

After a life lived fully, intensely and with joy, in March 2013, Falco finds out he is seriously ill. He is not dismayed by the news. He works closely with his collaborators to pass on the knowledge relevant to all the ongoing projects. Gradually, he leaves all his estate to Damanhur and is open to meet the Damanhurian that so wish, in individual talks.

On Monday, 17th June, 2013, he appears in front of his people for the last time. On 21st June, Falco sends his last message via Skype from his home to all the guests in Damanhur, who, like every Friday, are gathered to meet him.

The ' Falcon ' flies away at 11:12 pm. on Sunday 23rd June, 2013. He is in his HOME, with his mother and a few people that were very close to him.

It is the night of the Full Moon .. a " super-moon " actually as it is largest full moon of the year and it presents the moon's closest encounter with Earth. In that moment, in Damanhur, the Rite of the Oracle is being celebrated. On that very day, Damanhur also celebrated the Ritual of the Summer Solstice, shared by hundreds of people who felt the calling of Falco's dream.

“ Selfica and the Cosmic Art of Selfic Painting ”

“ selfica ”

One of the most interesting research fields that Falco developed in Damanhur is that of ‘ Selfica ’

.. a discipline that creates structures to concentrate and direct vital and intelligent energies, that is energies able to interact with the environment and with human beings.

There are traces of Selfica Applications in the Egyptian, Etruscan, Celtic and Minoan cultures. Ancient myths have it that Selfica was widely used also in the fabled Atlantis.

Through Selfica, it is possible to create devices based on the spiral form and the use of metals, colors, special inks and minerals that act as conduits for “ intelligent ” energies, border forces that can act as intermediaries between different planes of existence.

Building a Selfic Structure is like making a ‘ body ’ for the Selfic Energy to use. The intelligence of the Self is the energy that manages the physical part of the structure.

Modern Science has demonstrated that at the basis of matter, nothing material really exists, but rather interactions of energies that are constantly connected to one another based on resonance.

On a quantum level, atoms are not composed of physical particles, but rather vortices of energy in relationship to each other. Everything that exists in the universe is interconnected, within the same energy field.

Every living being and object that exists in the universe emits and receives energy, entering into relation with the others and the environment. This interaction can be positive .. constructive interference, or detrimental to life and development .. destructive interference.

The interaction of a Self with individuals is always based upon reciprocal advantage. For this reason, Selves can be considered specialized symbionts.

The Self selects useful conditions for physical life or for the development of personal potential, connecting to the energy field through the ‘ microlines ’, the energy lines of the human body. The ‘ intelligent ’ energy of the Selfic structure selects, harmonizes and amplifies the most useful energetic frequencies to carry out the functions for which it was built.

In exchange, the Selfic intelligence can participate in a realm of space-time characterized by laws that are different from those of its origins.

The largest Selfic structure in the world is contained within the Temples of Humankind, a great underground work of art built by the citizens of the Federation of Damanhur.

Amongst the main functions of the Selfic implants of the Temples, they make the halls the ideal place to interact with divine forces for the evolution of humanity as a whole.

The use of the Selfic structures in the Temples has allowed for new research developments in the field of health and exploration of time and space.

“ selfic painting ”

At the beginning of the 1980s, Falco created “ Selfic Painting ” which adds an aesthetic dimension to the functionality of Selfica. In this way, emotion is the catalyst for a connection with the energetic aspect of Selfica.

Falco’s painting is strong, joyful and expansive. It is a celebration, a constant expansion of awareness, a love affair with life and its origins. Falco offers a journey of continuously discovering new forms ; his first paintings present harmonious and rigorous relations of lines defining a space that seems to contain, in a compressed form, the vital tension of the universe itself.

Then came the canvases in which the universe itself is the subject, and later on those dedicated to themes-symbols such as keys, cups, the Tarot, chimeras, hands, books, trees. In every instance, the paintings are asymmetrical, sustained and made dynamic by a delicate equilibrium of multi-layered imbalances, different vanishing points, rhythmical yet never repetitive geometries. Sometimes the painting expands onto its frame filling also the space around it with its exuberant strength.

The colors, symbols and forms are the living actors of the composition. Because of this, Selfic paintings seem to have the power to give those who look at them a little bit of extra energy, a flash of new understanding about reality and about themselves.

Falco used colors that are visible in diverse light frequencies, so there are different images, compositions and meanings that share space on a single canvas, depending on the color of light that is illuminating it. In this way, every painting is many paintings because different lights reveal layers of symbols and unexpected depths. Every painting can be observed in natural, colored and ultraviolet light, as well as in the absence of light, and in each circumstance it will show a different composition offering a different meaning.

The variations of light that reveal different paintings on the same canvas also recall the natural rhythms of day and night, as well as the flow of time, which is often a protagonist in these works, in a weaving of the past, the future and the eternal "now". This is a circular time in which the stellar origins of humankind anchor themselves in the now of our earthly experience. Falco's canvases urge us to ask ourselves : what is humanity's place in the universe, and how many realities we could participate in, and which ones, were we only more aware.

Every Selfic Painting is a page from a book of knowledge written with alchemically prepared colors and components, combined with forms and signs passed down from ancient mystical and esoteric traditions. For this reason, Falco preferred to define himself as a writer rather than a painter.

"More than a painter, I consider myself a person who extracts pages from the diary of time, pages on which my experiences are told : experiences of subsequent lives, of knowledge, of my story throughout the millennia.

" All the paintings that I have been painting over the years are the same painting considered from different positions and approaches that represent a complete ecosystem. They are all pages that speak, offering explanations of the same thing on different levels and, as it happens in magic, the story becomes substance, so these pages can, in turn, project all that they contain to their owners, to observers, to those who interact with them. The objective of any research related to these kinds of spiritual aspects is the development of knowledge and of the energy within oneself."

The titles of Selfic Paintings are expressed in a poetic form, and Falco often writes them on the back of the canvas. This combination of the text and the painting provides the key for interpreting the work. The title expands on and develops the pictorial message, suggesting codes of interpretation and combining the poetry of the word with that of the image, in order to offer a more complete and profound emotion.

The Paintings are musical, not only in the harmony of the composition, but also in the interweaving of the sounds of the words, which when read, travel through space and expand the painting's field of existence.

*The ensemble, the whole,
the manifest as well as the unmanifested, create bonds that the wise person, the alchemist discovers...
everything is hidden, everything revealed.
Veiled again, that is, once discovered...*

Here is the test to overcome, the trial that turns students into teachers, thus perpetuating the teaching.

The beyond, the when and where are children to free will...

choosing what is true and therefore not illusory,
at least once per life-time, without then going back...

and reveal/re-veil so that others can discover...
or we ourselves,
in one another.

" the selfic cabins "

Several Paintings in the same environment connect to each other and create more complex effects than those of a single painting, because they define a space with a precise energetic orientation.

An environment with a sufficient number of paintings properly connected to one another is called a " Selfic Cabin " in Damanhurian terminology. This is a space where the vibration of each molecule is modulated to create a constructive interference with the human energy field.

It is a " Spiritual Think Tank " to turn on all our faculties and connect the functions of the right and left hemispheres of the brain. This happens just by being immersed in the atmosphere generated by the interaction between the vibrational field created by the paintings and that of humans.

Now there are Selfic Painting Cabins in Italy, Japan, Croatia, and in the United States.

" selfic painting gallery, niatel "

The permanent exhibition of Selfic Paintings in the Niatel Art Gallery of the " Damanhur Crea Center " in Vidracco, Italy, is open to the public every day of the year. On display are many works created from 1985 to 2013. Their interaction with each other creates a special space for meditation, which is always available for everyone.

Falco's paintings represent a very important part of his spiritual heritage. To continue writing this great Book of Knowledge, before dying, Falco trained three Damanhurian women and one man to become his channels and create selfic paintings.

These works bear his signature and connect to the same reservoir of energies. The experimentation and exchange with these special intelligences can so carry on, and new doors of exploration continue to open.

“ Damanhur .. Temples of Humankind ”

“ a wonderful work of spiritual art ”

Falco's life .. like that of every great man who tries to innovate society and bring forth a new spiritual and cultural paradigm .. was rich in challenges and obstacles to overcome.

Police controls to his home and the community, negative press, false accusations .. that in some cases led to court cases, always won by Falco and the Damanhurians .. were a constant presence, parallel to the great interest his work and message inspired in people looking for a new, more spiritual way to live.

Falco was always an optimist, and considered every opposition as a stimulus to turn possible negative outcomes into new openings and opportunities. The most interesting and complex challenge he and the community had to face, was that of the legal battle to save the Temples of Humankind, now recognized as a wonderful work of Spiritual Art.

This large Underground Cathedral had been built in complete secret for the first 16 years, before the police discovered it.

The digging commenced on a summer night in the year 1978, when Falco and a small group of Damanhurians saw a shooting star in sky. Falco said it was the signal he had been waiting for to start creating a Temple Complex dedicated to the awakening of humanity and to the divine forces of the New Millennium.

The project was a secret shared only by the artists, artisans and builders constructing it. Even many members of Damanhur knew nothing of it. There were no laws or authorities to regulate underground construction in the Piedmont /Damanhur region. The community refused to give up their visionary project due to bureaucratic obstacles .. so the work went on ..

silently excavating day and night for the next sixteen years.

In the year 1992, an anonymous letter was sent to the local Carabinieri station asserting that there were secret temples hidden at Damanhur. On several occasions the police investigated these claims and could never find access to the Temples, so officials doubted the veracity of the rumors.

In July, the discontented individual fixated on exposing the Temple, finally convinced the police to organize another raid. Armed again, the Carabinieri arrived at seven o'clock in the morning, accompanied by the State Prosecutor.

The police threatened to dynamite the mountain if the Damanhurians didn't reveal their "secret temples", so Falco decided to show the excavated sanctuaries to the State Prosecutor and three of the Carabinieri. A fourth policeman followed them into the Temples of Humankind and captured the private tour on film.

An hour later -- tearful and overcome by the profound beauty of the Temples -- the group emerged.

The Prosecutor put his hand on Falco's shoulder, saying simply, "We must do something to save the Temples". In Italy, there were no laws to govern or protect such an underground structure, erected without planning or permission.

On 9th October, 1992, the first press conference was held in Damanhur to announce the existence of the Temples of Humankind. Immediately, the local Catholic bishop urged the Italian authorities to destroy the non-Christian temples. They saw this as the perfect occasion to damage Damanhur, as the community was becoming more and more popular.

A long harsh court battle ensued. Falco was personally present and committed in every phase of it, while encouraging the Damanhurians never to lose heart.

They launched a worldwide operation to save their sacred building, collecting signatures from a growing number of international supporters. To raise awareness and assistance in their campaign, journalists and television crews were invited into the underground chambers to experience and publicize the spiritual and artistic marvel that had been created.

Finally, in June 1996, with the support of the Beaux Art Authority, the Italian Government approved a change in the law to legalize the underground structure.

After four years of uncertainty and continuous effort, the Temples were saved !

With the secret of the Temples disclosed to the world, the Damanhurian's important task is now to protect and expand the sanctuary while allowing the public to support and enjoy this most sacred and magnificent refuge inside of a mountain.

“ we and the Earth will once again have the opportunity to create the Garden of Eden ”

Bruce H. Lipton, Ph.D., is an internationally recognized leader in bridging science and spirit. Stem-cell biologist, bestselling author of “The Biology of Belief” and recipient of the year 2009 Goi Peace Award. Dr. Lipton began his scientific career as a cell biologist. He received his Ph.D. Degree from the University of Virginia at Charlottesville before joining the Department of Anatomy at the University of Wisconsin’s School of Medicine in the year 1973. Dr. Lipton’s research on muscular dystrophy, studies employing cloned human stem cells, focused upon the molecular mechanisms controlling cell behavior.

In the year 1982, Dr. Lipton began examining the principles of quantum physics and how they might be integrated into his understanding of the cell’s information processing systems. He produced breakthrough studies on the cell membrane, which revealed that this outer layer of the cell was an organic homologue of a computer chip, the cell’s equivalent of a brain. His research at Stanford University’s School of Medicine, between the years 1987 and 1992, revealed that the environment, operating through the membrane, controlled the behavior and physiology of the cell, turning genes on and off. His discoveries, which ran counter to the established scientific view that life is controlled by the genes, presaged one of today’s most important fields of study, the science of epigenetics.

Dr. Lipton’s novel scientific approach transformed his personal life as well. His deepened understanding of cell biology highlighted the mechanisms by which the mind controls bodily functions, and implied the existence of an immortal spirit. He applied this science to his personal biology, and discovered that his physical well-being improved, and the quality and character of his daily life was greatly enhanced. Dr. Lipton has been a guest speaker on hundreds of TV and Radio shows, as well as keynote presenter for national and international conferences. A few excerpts from the magazine “Shift : at the Frontiers of Consciousness”

For over four hundred years, Western civilization has chosen SCIENCE as its source of truths and wisdom about the mysteries of life.

Allegorically, we may picture the wisdom of the universe as resembling a large mountain. We scale the mountain as we acquire knowledge. Our drive to reach the top of that mountain is fueled by the notion that with knowledge we may become “masters” of our universe. Conjure the image of the all knowing GURU seated atop the mountain.

“ from reductionism to holism ”

The path that SCIENCE is currently navigating has inadvertently brought us to our current moment of global crisis. Since the modern scientific revolution, starting with the publication of Copernicus’s observation in the year 1543, SCIENCE has perceived the universe as a physical machine operating on the mechanical principles later defined by Newton.

In the Newtonian worldview, the universe is defined by its material reality and its operation understood through ‘reductionism’ -- the process of taking matter apart and studying its bits and pieces. Knowledge of the universe’s parts and their interaction would allow SCIENCE to predict and control nature. This notion of control is contained within ‘determinism’ -- the belief that with knowledge of something's parts, we can predict its behavior.

In contrast to conventional reductionism, the new 'NOETIC SCIENCE' is based upon holism, the belief that an understanding of nature and the human experience requires that we transcend the parts to see the whole.

Materialism and Reductionism engender the idea that humans are disconnected from, and above, nature. The NOETIC VISION emphasizes that life is derived from an integration and coordination of both the physical and the immaterial parts of the universe.

Over the centuries, the accumulated knowledge of "SCIENTISTS" has been assembled into a hierarchical construction resembling a multitiered building. Each level of the building is built upon the scientific foundation provided by the supporting lower levels. Each floor of the building is distinguished as a scientific sub-specialty.

The foundation for the "SCIENCE" building is MATHEMATICS. Upon math is assembled the building's second level, PHYSICS. Built upon physics is CHEMISTRY, the building's third level. Chemistry serves as the platform for the fourth tier, BIOLOGY. Built upon biology is the building's fifth and current top floor, PSYCHOLOGY.

First floor

" a foundation of fractals and chaos "

Fundamental to this new noetic curriculum is the foundation offered by math. Mathematical laws are absolute, certain, and indisputable.

For centuries those laws have been used to isolate and divide the universe into separate measurable components. Future SCIENCE will be built upon an EMERGING NEW MATH that emphasizes the disciplines of fractal geometry and chaos theory.

FRACTALS are a modern version of geometry, officially defined in the year 1983 by IBM scientist Benoit Mandelbrot.

They are actually a simple mathematics based upon an equation involving addition and multiplication, in which the result is entered back into the original equation and solved again. Repetition of the equation inherently provides for a geometry expressing self-similar objects that appear at higher or lower levels of the equation's magnitude.

Organization at any level of nature, like nested Russian dolls, reflects a self-similar pattern to organization found at higher or lower levels of reality. For example, the structure and behavior of a human cell is self-similar to the structure and behavior of a human, which in turn is self-similar to the structure and behavior of humanity. In short, "As above, so below".

FRACTAL GEOMETRY emphasizes that the observable physical universe is derived from the integration and interconnectivity of all of its parts.

Rather than endorsing a Darwinian Evolution based upon random mutations and a struggle for survival, FRACTAL GEOMETRY reveals that the biosphere is a structured cooperative venture comprised of all living organisms.

Instead of invoking COMPETITION as a means of survival, the new view of nature is one driven by COOPERATION among species living in harmony with their physical environment.

We must own that every human being counts, for each is a member of a single organism. When we war, we are warring against ourselves.

Through mathematical equations, FRACTAL GEOMETRY derives structures resembling those of the natural world, such as mountains, clouds, plants, and animals. The dynamics of those fractal structures are directly influenced by chaos theory, a math that is concerned with the nature by which small changes may cause unexpected final effects.

CHAOS THEORY defines the processes by which the flap of a butterfly's wing in Asia may influence the formation of a tornado in Oklahoma.

When CHAOS THEORY is combined with FRACTAL GEOMETRY, the math further predicts the behavioral dynamics observed in our physical reality, from weather patterns to human physiology, from social patterns to market prices on the stock exchange.

Second Floor " energy physics "

A century ago, a group of creative minorities launched a radical new view of how the universe works.

Albert Einstein, Max Planck and Werner Heisenberg, among others, formulated new theories concerning the underlying mechanics of the universe. Their work on QUANTUM MECHANICS revealed that the universe is not an assembly of physical parts as suggested by Newtonian Physics, but is derived from a holistic entanglement of immaterial energy waves.

Q u a n t u m Mechanics shockingly reveals that there is no true "physicality" in the universe; atoms are made of focused vortices of energy -- miniature tornados that are constantly popping into and out of existence.

Atoms as energy fields interact with the full spectrum of invisible energy fields that comprise the universe, intimately entangled with one another and the field in which they are immersed.

A fundamental conclusion of the New Physics also acknowledges that the “observer creates the reality”. As observers, we are personally involved with the creation of our own reality!

Physicists are being forced to admit that the universe is a “mental” construction. Pioneering physicist Sir James Jeans wrote:

“ The stream of knowledge is heading toward a non-mechanical reality : the universe begins to look more like a great thought than like a great machine.

“ Mind no longer appears to be an accidental intruder into the realm of matter .. we ought rather hail it as the creator and governor of the realm of matter. ”

Although Quantum Mechanics was acknowledged eighty years ago as the best scientific description of the mechanisms creating our universe, most scientists rigidly cling to the prevailing matter-oriented world-view simply because it “seems” to make better sense out of our existence. To grapple with the contradictions, the majority of physicists have chosen an easy way out: they restrict quantum theory’s validity to the subatomic world.

However, quantum laws must hold at every level of reality. We can no longer afford to ignore that fact. We must learn that our beliefs, perceptions, and attitudes about the world create the world. Recently, Johns Hopkins physicist professor R.C. Henry suggested that we “get over it” and accept the inarguable conclusion: “The universe is immaterial .. mental and spiritual” (R.C. Henry, “The Mental Universe”).

Third Floor “ vibrational chemistry ”

While conventional chemistry has focused on the atomic elements as miniature Newtonian solar systems composed of solid electrons, protons, and neutrons .. “Vibrational Chemistry”, based upon quantum mechanics, emphasizes that atoms are made of spinning immaterial energy vortices, such as quarks.

The New Chemistry is concerned with the role of vibration in creating molecular bonds and driving molecular interactions. Energy Fields, such as those derived from cell phones or from thoughts, interact with and influence chemical reactions.

“VIBRATIONAL CHEMISTRY” defines the mechanisms that mediate the Mind-Body connection.

The Body is structurally derived from over a hundred thousand different protein molecules. Proteins change shape in response to signals .. harmonic vibrations in the field. The collective movement of proteins generates the behaviors we observe as “life”. Life-controlling signals originate from both physical chemicals and immaterial energy waves.

The energy-protein interface is the junction of the mind-body connection.

Via a process called electro-conformational coupling, protein behaviors can be influenced by neural vibrational fields derived from conscious processes.

Fourth Floor " the new biology "

Traditional biology, like traditional chemistry, has also been investigated using a reductionist philosophy .. organisms are dissected into cells, and cells into molecular parts .. to gain understanding of how they work.

The new curriculum perceives of cells and organisms as integrated communities that are physically and energetically entangled within their environment.

The new Biological Holism endorses James Lovelock's hypothesis that the Earth and the biosphere represent a single living and breathing entity known as "Gaia".

The study of Gaian physiology, emphasizing the participation and integration of all the Earth's organisms, would reacquaint us with our connection to the planet and to our ancient role as the Garden's caretakers.

A "Noetic Biology" will also embrace 'the power of epigenetics'.

EPIGENETICS, which literally translates as "control above the genes", is a newly recognized second genetic code that controls the activity and programming of an organism's DNA.

This new hereditary mechanism reveals how behavior and gene activity are controlled by an organism's perception of its environment. The fundamental difference between the old DNA Genetic Code and the new Epigenetics is that the former notion endorses genetic determinism .. the belief that genes predetermine and control our physiological and behavioral traits .. while epigenetics recognizes that our perceptions of the environment, including our consciousness, actively control our genes.

Through epigenetic mechanisms, applied consciousness can be used to shape our biology and make us "masters" of our own lives.

Fifth Floor " energy psychology "

Holistic revisions in the supporting SCIENCES of physics, chemistry, and biology provide for a radically remodeled fifth tier, psychology.

For centuries, our materialistic perspective dismissed the immaterial mind and consciousness as an epiphenomenon of the mechanical body. We perceived that the action of genes and neurochemicals .. the hardware of the central nervous system .. were responsible for our behaviors and our dysfunctions.

The foundation of quantum mechanics, vibrational chemistry, and epigenetic control mechanisms, however, provide for a profound new understanding of psychology : The environment along with the perceptions of the mind controls behavior and the genetics of biology.

Rather than being “ programmed ” by our genes, our lives are controlled by our perceptions of life experiences !

The switch from Newtonian to Quantum mechanics changes the focus of psychology from physiochemical mechanisms to the role of energy fields.

ENERGY PSYCHOLOGY would focus on the software of programming consciousness rather than the physiochemical hardware that mechanistically expresses behavior.

ENERGY PSYCHOLOGY directly impacts subconscious programming rather than trying to manipulate genetics, physiology, and behavior. This new understanding will also help parents to recognize the power that fundamental perceptions have on programming the subconscious mind. This recognition can then lead to developmental experiences that will enhance the health, intelligence, and happiness of our children.

“ Noetic SCIENCE, a view from the top ”

Such renovations to each floor of traditional SCIENCE not only strengthen the building but also support a new tier, an all encompassing field known as noetic science.

NOETIC SCIENCE emphasizes that the structure of the universe is made in the image of its underlying field. The physical character of atoms, proteins, cells, and people are controlled by immaterial energies that collectively form that field. The cellular community comprising each human responds to a unique spectrum of the universe’s energy field. This unique spectrum, referred to by many as soul or spirit, represents an invisible moving force that is in harmonic resonance with our physical bodies. This is the creative force behind the consciousness that shapes our physical reality.

Noetic Consciousness reveals that collectively we are the “ field ” incarnate.

Each of us is “ information ” manifesting and experiencing a physical reality. Integrating and balancing the awareness of our noetic consciousness into our physical consciousness will empower us to become true creators of our life experiences.

When such an understanding reigns, we and the Earth will once again have the opportunity to create the Garden of Eden.

“ Now, I am living life of complete bliss ”

I am Sourab Ranjan.

I am working as junior resident (JR) in The Govt. Hospital Dadadev, New Delhi.

I have had spiritual inclination right from my child-hood. I used to read spiritual books of my grand-father, who used to take part in ' Bhajans ' and Meditation under the guidance of his Guru Swami Advaitananda of Mahadev Simariya, Bihar.

My regular practice of dhyān sadhana started after passing my tenth standard, in the year 2001, when I shifted to Patna City from my remote village for my higher studies. There, I came across Osho magazines and books .. thanks to my father. I got infatuated with OSHO and started practicing dynamic meditation and indulged in evening satsangs with Masters, visiting Osho Meditation Centre daily. I also attended three residential meditation camps organized by them. Later, I started to sit silently, regularly.

In the year 2004, I got selected in All India CBSE PMT and joined MBBS course at Dr. V.M. Govt. Medical College, Solapur ( Maharashtra ). In this process, I got disconnected from the Osho Meditation Centre. Though I was happy for my selection, I was rather disappointed to leave regular meditation sadhana at the Osho Meditation Centre. I started searching for a Osho Meditation Centre in Solapur rather intensely.

Once, I called “ Swami Chaitanya Keerti ”, a devoted Osho pracharak in North India to enquire about the Osho Meditation Centre. He asked me to search on internet. While I was searching for ' Osho Meditation Center-Solapur ', the website of “ pssmovement.org ” popped up with the name and address of a local Pyramid Master .. G. Chandra Sekhar Reddy Sir.

Soon, I met him in his office. He gave me a copy of “ Spiritual India ” magazine, and a couple of books to read and called me to his home on a Sunday. I was happy to meet a great meditator like him in Solapur. We meditated together on that Sunday. Since I have already read about “ anapanasati ” in Osho books, it was easy for me.

After a few weeks, Patriji visited the home of Sekhar Reddy Sir. During my first meeting with Patriji, I didn't talk much .. I was just looking into his eyes. Same day, there was a mass meditation class in Solapur, when Patriji led them into melodious flute meditation. Patriji invited me to participate in the Buddha Poornima Celebrations, in the year 2005, at Pyramid Valley, Bengaluru. I joined Sekhar Reddy Sir with my friend Dr. Peeyush for Bengaluru and this happened to be a major U-TURN in my life.

I was mesmerized with the beautiful environment of Pyramid Valley, Bengaluru. I was delighted to see so many people meditating for hours together inside as well as outside the Mega Pyramid. When I sat beneath King's Chamber, I felt a surge of 'something' .. some kind of 'energy'. I was not able to sit there due to heavy inflow of cosmic energy, which made me really astonished.

After returning from Bengaluru, I decided to practice meditation like the one I had experienced in Pyramid Valley .. meditating for long, long hours. To my amazement, at the same time, Sekhar Reddy Sir opened a pyramid meditation centre in Solapur. I became a regular visitor to the pyramid meditation centre.

I started visiting Meditation Centre daily with Peeyush. I used to meditate for 2 to 3 hours everyday. Sekhar Reddy Sir used to tell us a lot of spiritual concepts especially of those published in the Telugu magazine 'Dhyananthrapradesh'.

Some time after, I released an intent, to meet Buddha as he is my favourite master. Nothing happened on that day, I continued my meditation practice. In a few days, I forgot my intention too, and, suddenly, one day, Buddha appeared during my meditation. I felt like crying and I was so very happy to see Buddha in meditation!

As learned from previous conversation with Sekhar Reddy Sir, I was interested in conversation with the master. I had released similar intent. Buddha automatically started talking, "I have given you four noble truths. Now, I am giving you additional four truths: 1. Never complain 2. Never Judge 3. Never Expect 4. Never Hurry."

I could realize that I was a Buddhist monk 2500 years ago.

I shared these experiences with Sekhar Reddy Sir the next day. He asked me to document it. He told me that, in Kurnool, one of the meditators recorded conversations with 40 Masters. I was excited to practice meditation more intensely.

I could converse with Osho, Sai Baba and many other Masters. In one of my conversations, a Master cautioned me, not to play with energy unnecessarily:

" Call only when there is a need, that too when you want to ask or, learn. "

Once, I was feeling intense heat in my body. I used to feel excessive thirst during my meditation. It continued for several days. I used to drink lots of water and after meditation. I asked one master, as to why it is happening so. I got the answer :

“ Kundalini is vibrating at ‘ Manipuraka Chakra ’ ; have courage ; drink more water and continue meditation with same zeal . ”

Thereafter, the feeling of ‘ heat ’ disappeared.

I started doing intense meditation for several hours at nights, mostly skipping my dinner. I used to stay in the meditation centre itself during nights. My deep-felt gratitude to Sekhar Reddy Sir. Finally, I could reach the stage to sit continuously for about 8 to 10 hours in meditation each day.

Once, I got an ‘ inner voice ’ to meditate for 36 hours during Full-Moon. ‘ Voice ’ was so much compelling, that I had to sit during the following Full-Moon, at a single stretch for 18 hours. During that time, I felt Oneness with Lord Shiva.

In one meditation, I felt myself as a very big banyan tree, the roots of which are spreading on the whole Earth. Another time, I saw Earth in front of me and I was bigger than the Earth...looking at Earth with tenderness.

I also realized my connection with Shambala. On a higher plane, I was one of the Shambala administrators. My purpose in this life-time is to bring spiritual administration on Physical Earth and transcend all limitations of belief system by teaching whole humanity the concept of “ no medicine ” , “ no death ” and “ no animal food ” .

Meditation practice helped me a lot during my MBBS studies. My memory power increased. I could remember everything in one reading and my power of attention improved very much. Even at the time of final exam of final year, I continued going to the meditation centre. My acceptance level increased. I never worried for results. I passed my final MBBS in the first attempt. It was a surprise to all my colleagues as to how I could pass despite investing a major amount of time for spirituality. Meditation not only increased my efficiency but also enabled me to be smart at work.

I practiced the principle ‘ No Medicine ’ during my college days. Whenever I was ill, I used to spend more time meditating under a pyramid and every time, the healing was quick.

After attaining some mastery in meditation, I started teaching meditation. My first biggest meditation class was at “ Saraswati Vidya Mandir ” , Patna. All alone, I conducted the mega meditation to the entire school, including teachers.

I feel immense joy, whenever I teach. Teaching meditation is my passion. Those who want to progress quickly in spirituality, should teach meditation.

I continued practicing meditation intensely. I meditate whenever I feel tired, even at places like Railway Station / Airport. I do meditation before going to sleep. I even spend whole nights in meditation in a sitting posture.

Soon after completing my MBBS and internship I shifted to my dream-place Delhi, taking charge of the first Pyramid Meditation Centre, at INDERPURI, in Delhi.

When I am on my official duty in Govt. hospital, I am bound to prescribe medicines in the form of injections and tablets .. as administrating drugs through injection or tablets is compulsory for patients in emergency. However, when I have time to talk to a patient, I advise invariably not to rely totally on medicine. I taught meditation to my colleagues / doctors in my own hospital and I have taught meditation to hundreds of patients. I used to share my experiences with them to explain that medicine is only the last resort. And, now is the need for meditation to one and all.

Once a lady, to whom I taught meditation called me to tell that she had acute ear pain and asked an immediate remedy. Over phone, I asked her whether there is anyone in her life whom she didn't accept? She said that she has some conflict with her elder daughter-in-law some time ago. I counseled her, to accept her daughter-in-law unconditionally. I also gave an affirmation to practice. In few minutes, she got healed of her acute ear-ache completely.

Everyone should read the book "You Can Heal Your Life", by Louise L. Hay. She could heal her cancer through affirmations .. "All is Well".

Anybody can practice affirmations with ease for healing any type of disease from simple headache to a life-threatening cancer.

Reading books of Theosophist Arthur E. Powell and my own meditational experiences helped me a lot to understand all my subtle bodies. I do attend the Theosophical Society meetings regularly in Delhi.

Recently, on the occasion of 10th NCSS ( National Congress of Spiritual Scientists ), in Chandigarh, I spoke on "Transcending Limiting System of Humanity : Awakening to Truth".

Now, I am living a life of complete bliss.
